our cover: CAN.CH. NIGHTWATCH V ONIKA, AM.CAN.F.CH.
first dual Canadian Champion number 1 CSFA sighthound 1976/77 season
owned by Jan Priddy and her breeder, Denyce Verti

Onika is a very special personality to us. She has the kind of structure, expression, and attitude that states quietly, emphatically, "I am the one."

From the moment of her arrival three years ago in a very noisy airport on a dark and wet night she has seemed right at home:

Best Puppy in Match her first time out

ASFA pointed at 15 monthes her first field trial 1977 F.Ch.

CKC pointed at 16 monthes her first show 1977 Ch.

CSFA pointed at 18 monthes first CSFA field trial 1977 F.Ch.

AKC major pointed at 19 monthes her 7th AKC show 10 points

1978 was devoted to motherhood. Onika will be back in action in 1980.

Several of Onika's black and tan, self mask cream, and black mask puppies are now at home across North America. Our best wishes to them and their new families.

We and our hounds would like to send a very special thank you across the border to those people who have made our relationship with CSFA a treasured part of our lives. SEE YOU IN '80!

COURSING.

THIS amusement is of very great antiquity, having been first practiced by the Gauls, the most luxurious and opulent of whom used to send out hare-finders early in the morning to search the places where hares were likely to be found. These men returned to their masters, and having reported as to the spots where the animals were seen lurking, received orders to bring out horses and greyhounds to course them. The Greeks also hunted the hare in this fashion, and a treatise was prepared on coursing by ARRIAN, who flourished A.D. 150. The true sportsman, even in ARRIAN's time, did not take out his dogs to destroy the hares, but for the purpose of seeing the contest between them. The escape of the animal, even, was not prevented, it being against the rule to disturb any brake in which it might have concealed itself after outspeeding the greyhound. The hares were also frequently taken alive from the dogs by the horsemen, who followed closely, and, after the greyhounds were taken up, restored to liberty. These men used to "speak" to their greyhounds while in the field, considering that it might encourage them to know that their master was by to witness the excellence of their running. This "speaking" was, however, confined to the first course, lest, after being weakened by a second and third, the dogs might by such encouragement exert themselves beyond their strength, and thus sustain some injury.

In the Slips

Coursing has always been a most popular sport; and in the days of Queen ELIZABETH, when she herself was not disposed to follow the dogs, a station was always selected for her from whence she might survey the field. Previous to this time there had been an utter lack of organization in the business of hunting; but gradually the sportsmen of the day began to form themselves into friendly cliques, and rules were adopted by which a mutual confidence and friendly intercourse might be maintained. The Duke of Norfolk, who was the leading sportsman of the time, was solicited and prevailed upon to draw up a proper code of laws, and so successfully did he perform the task that, with slight alterations, the same rules prevail to-day. At this time pointers were used for the purpose of finding the game, and when any dog made a "point" the greyhounds were unloosed, after which the sport began. The hounds of the Duke of Norfolk's day were of the rough and heavy kind, unlike those now employed in coursing. It was reserved for the Earl of Orford, who flourished in the last century, to found the art of improved coursing, and introduce greyhounds of superior form and blood. In the year 1776 this nobleman established the Swaffham Coursing Society, confining the number of members to the number of letters in the alphabet. Whenever, however, any member died or wished to retire, his place was filled up by ballot, conformably to the rules of the society. On the decease of Lord Orford the members unanimously agreed to purchase a silver cup of the value of twenty-five guineas, which should be passed on from one winner to another, like the whip at Newmarket. Before the beginning of the season in 1792 it was, however, agreed that the winner of the cup should keep it, and that a new cup should be annually purchased by the society, to be run for each November. An opinion was entertained by the members of the Swaffham Club that it would be best to diffuse that respect which they desired to show to the memory of their founder by thus gracing the sideboards of the several different winners in different parts of the kingdom. The winner of the first cup was remarkable for having stood foremost as a breeder of greyhounds from the foundation of the society.

Coursing is still kept up with great spirit in England by various clubs, the prize to be run for being nearly always a gold or silver cup. Meetings are held in open districts well frequented by hares, where the greyhounds—technically called “dogs,” as fox-hounds are technically called “hounds”—are entered by their owners, coursing in this respect partaking of the nature of a horse-race. The first thing done is to select a judge to decide upon the merits of the dogs; second, a “slipper” is appointed to hold the dogs in leash and start them at the hare; and third, a flag steward is chosen, who remains near the judge, and announces the color of the victorious dog by means of a red or white flag, according as the competitors are arranged. The next thing done is to beat the field for a hare. When one is found, the judge usually allows it eighty or a hundred yards “law” before he cries to the slipper to let the dogs “go.” Upon the word the animals are liberated by a spring attached to the slip or long cord held by the slipper and communicating with the leathern collars fixed round the neck of the dogs. The judge’s duties now begin, and they are by no means light or easily performed. He follows the dogs wherever they go, carefully calculating the number of “points” made by each—a “point” being any meritorious achievement on the part of a dog, as when one outstrips another at any time, or turns the hare, that is, causes it to “double.” Finally he adjudges the victory, not necessarily to the dog that has killed the hare, but to the one which has made the most points during the course; that is, which has exhibited the greatest speed, sagacity, endurance, or other specially estimable dog-like quality.

The manner of hunting the hare illustrated in our sketches, and denominated by our artist “coursing à la mode,” is a refinement of the sport that would only be possible among enthusiasts in such matters, like the English. Here the hare is no wild denizen of field and brake, but a carefully cultivated creature, brought up in confinement and fed by hand for the purpose of affording sport for a select company of gentlemen, who pay well for the rearing of the animals they propose to hunt. The field is situated on the famous English “downs,” and surrounded on three sides by a wire netting through which the hare can not pass. The favored few who pay to behold the sport are accommodated at a certain point where they can survey the whole scene. In the lower part of the field is a spinny and an artificial covert. When the signal is given, the keeper and his assistants open the hurdles, and, after a little poking about in the spinny, send the hare out as a shepherd would a sheep from the pen. Almost at the same moment the slipper unlooses a couple of dogs, and the coursing begins, ending generally in the hare being overtaken and torn to pieces by the two savage brutes, with which she is utterly unable to cope, even in the matter of speed. To such a point as this has modern progress brought one of the celebrated field-sports of England. Shooting and coursing are no longer amusements requiring vigor of frame and a healthy activity of muscle. Pheasants are reared and fattened for the gun in carefully guarded preserves, and hares confined in spinnies and made to run within certain limits determined by wire nettings, so that however feeble or disposed to gout the British sportsman may become, his favorite amusements are not beyond his reach.

NUMBER 1 BORZOI

PENA TOVARISHCH ROMANO

by: Berbeg Novikov (USA)

ex: Ursa de Bolshoy

born: August 11, 1976

Pena was first introduced to lure coursing in the spring of 1978. He was as unfamiliar with coursing as were his owners but attended a couple of practice sessions in Langly where an immediate interest was shown.

His first official trial brought him a first placement and BOB. Since that time, Pena has won numerous firsts and BOB's, highlighted by back-to-back Bests in Field at VISA and LMSA.

In his two shows, Pena has a Best of Breed and placed Third in the Group making a two way Breed wining Borzoi!

Pena's great speed and incredible enthusiasm are two of the factors which placed him at the top of the Borzoi competing in 1978's CSFA Field Trials.

We would like to thank all those coursing people who gave us help, friendship, and hospitality over the past season.

CSFA NEWS

From time to time it becomes necessary for the Board of Directors to clarify or interpret the running rules or their intent. Therefore, the following decisions have been made and are to be followed:

Hounds that are presently disqualified under ASFA (American Sighthound Field Association) rules are not eligible to compete in CSFA lure field trials. (Please be sure to include this statement in your premium lists).

If a hound is dismissed in a tie-breaking runoff for placement, he/she shall be considered dismissed for the day and will not qualify for any points or any placements. The other placements in the stake will move up accordingly.

All entrants in CSFA lure field trials are required to pay the full entry fee as stated in the premium list. It has been the practice of some clubs to offer their judges reduced or free entries which discriminates between entrants.

The CSFA per capita fee is to be sent to the Records Chairman along with the trial records. The records will not be processed until the fee has been received. Any incomplete entry forms or judges' sheets will be returned to the Field Trial Secretary and the records will not be processed until they have been returned to the Records Chairman with the complete or corrected information.

As the system using the field clerk on the field with the judges and another field clerk in a different location and the double records idea has proven so successful in eliminating most of the errors, we request that all Clubs use this system. If more information is required on the double field clerk system, contact the Records Chairman, Bonnie Goebel.

Thank you,
CSFA Board of Directors

STATISTICS Sorry, we goofed!! As stated in the last CANFAN statistics, we had Oranje Jenever as the oldest CSFA F.Ch. Sighthound. Our apologies to BANDIT, Tamora's Image of Ali, Am.Can.F.Ch. C.D. & the Forresters, as BANDIT was the oldest to finish, just by a couple of months over JENEVER. A thousand pardons, Bandit !! Also, on the breed breakdowns, we had the Greyhound, Ch. Windwood Vent d'Hiver CC Am.Can.F.Ch. listed as having placed 3rd in three meets. VENTI received no 3rd placements. Any other mistakes let us know and we'll make the corrections.

FROM ALBERTA:

Happy New Year!! 1979 should show some, if not a lot, of promise from the Prairies. The FOOTHILLS GAZEHOUND CLUB has got off the ground and has started in earnest towards a Fun Run as soon as the snow leaves the ground and with luck, should be able to get a point trial by July.

Edmonton has shown some interest and have even held a formative meeting, but there were not enough coursing people present to get things moving yet.

In order to create some interest, the F.G.C. plans to hit Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge and Red Deer with a coursing booth at as many dog shows as we can get to, in order to get coursing promoted and going strong here. Once the Prairies catch fire there will be no stopping!!

On such a positive note we'll see you in Alberta this summer!! Keep watching CANFAN for more information from

FROM B.C.:

My temporary job as B.C. Director in 1978 has been most interesting. The one point that has come to me very strongly has been the lack of care over the drawing up of course plans in the premium lists. It has been quite obvious that some of the Clubs have neither visited the field or tested the course plan before hand. Complicated courses have been drawn up to attract entries and yet have not be workable. Equipment breakdowns and lack of backup equipment have compounded the problem. I believe that if people have entered a particular trial with its course plans as shown, these should be adhered to. Clubs must double check all their equipment and get out and test the courses before drawing up the premium list. Only in this way can we have successful trials in the future.

1978 B.C. Director

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

HAPPY NEW YEAR to you and your fleet footed friends! January is the time to look back over the year past and to look forward to the year ahead.

For CSFA, 1978 was a year of expansion. In the West, two new clubs held their first lure trials and another had its qualifying fun run thus making B.C. coursing fans the busiest bunch in the Country. In the East, the first CSFA trials were held in Ontario and Quebec. Joining us was the largest lure coursing group in Canada based in Toronto. Closing the gap is the Calgary group and there are indications that Edmonton and Winnipeg won't be too long in getting in on the fun.

All this activity is only possible with a great deal of hard work. Each club deserves a thumping wag of the tail for their endeavours. Extra slurpy hound kisses are in order for the Editors of CANFAN and their stellar publication, for the eagle-eyed Records Chairperson, to the National Executive and especially to the Provincial Directors for their time and dedication to CSFA. Thank you all for making 1978 such a success!!

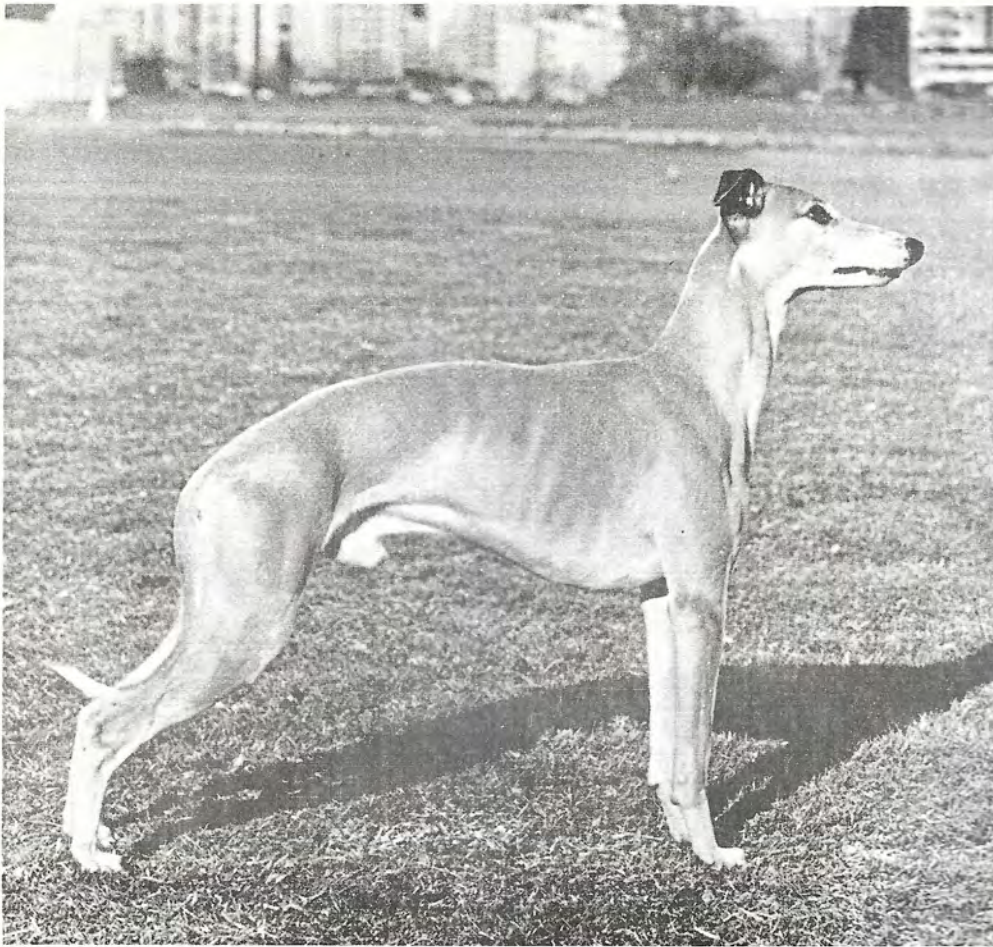

In the early months of this new year a lot of the not-so-fun work of the organization will be accomplished. You have contributed part of the job by voting on the rule changes. New rule books will be published, I hope, by the end of February. The constitution will most certainly be finalized before the opening meet of the season. Thanks to the initiative of one person, we will also have a system of licencing judges comparable, and we hope acceptable, to the ASFA.

When the coursing season begins, we will be putting a lot of new ideas and concepts into practice. Perhaps you will not agree or you will see ways of improving the system. Put your thoughts down on paper. I am sure that, throughout the season, you will see evidence of rules that are not working or that need to be changed. We will have a committee in charge of rule change proposals for you to submit your ideas. Don't wait until after the season is over but do so when the event is fresh in your mind.

If you remember that COURSING IS FOR THE DOGS you will reap all the benefits of the "merry chase". Good coursing to everyone in '79!

A lady who does it naturally; Daisy first saw a lure at 15 months at a fun meet. She stayed home to grow up until she was two in June, 1977.

That summer she easily finished her conformation title with BOB and BOS over Specials. She was also second in Open (17 entries) at the New England Specialty in August. Earlier this year she went to California to be bred to Am. Ch. Keystone's Ko-Op and it wasn't until this summer that she met the lure again on a limited basis. Four times out has found her BB (OLCA), an unfinished meet (OLCA-pulling up with a dislocated toe but winning the heat she ran), BB (CASA, September 29th for 16 points and scored at 315 in a tie with a Deerhound for the day's highest total), and Second in Breed (OLCA).

She runs with enthusiasm and style and is equally at home in the ring or the field.

Dear Diary,
Well I really did it! Who would have ever thought that I would be #1 lure coursing whippet in Eastern Canada and the only Eastern whippet to have my Field Championship! And I was a good girl and got my C.D. for Muriel this summer too. You wouldn't believe how nervous she was - I really had to coax her along. I do like to please my humans. I don't know, but I think Bill gets more of a kick out of my running. You can't blame him; here's Ann bragging on and on about my brother Buster being #1 lure coursing whippet for 1977 in Canada, and how great my sister Sender is - totally ignoring me!
I hear Mom is expecting some babies this spring. By the sounds of things they are really going to be hot stuff! Their dad Mackie sure is fast! Maybe Buster and I had better retire while we're ahead!
Well, back to dreaming of long lazy puppy days in the sun.

Zorya #1 lure coursing borzoi in the USA for 1978 best in field at the 1978 Grand National Zorya finished her Canadian Field Championship in three trials with 3 firsts and 2 Best in Fields, making her the first hound to finish a Field Championship in Eastern Canada.

After only 4 trials in 1978 she is CSFA's #2 Borzoi and is tied for #1 Hound in Canada on the "average points" system.

At 17 months of age Zorya became the youngest Lure Courser of Merit in the U.S. and the only Borzoi LCM with a Canadian F.Ch.

Zorya is trained and conditioned by the internationally famous "Lure Capturer" Pyrun Duncan, LCM, who modestly claims no credit for Zorya's 4 Best in Fields. She is housed and fed by Ariel Duncan Manteiga.
