CANFAN EDITORIAL POLICY

The Canadian Field Advisory News is published six times per year by the CSFA for the purposes of informing its subscribers and members of activities and coming events, as well as to educate and entertain with pertinant articles. The opinions expressed within these pages are not necessarilly those of the CSFA or the CANFAN Editors. The Editors reserve the right to edit or withhold any article or other item which in their opinion would reflect badly on the sport or, unfairly, upon any individual or group. Please contact either of the Editors for permission to reprint any segment of CANFAN. Thank you.

ALTHOUGH THE PRIMARY PURPOSE OF THE CANFAN IS NOT THE PROMOTION AND ADVETISEMENT OF ANY ONE INDIVIDUAL DOG WE SHOULD EACH GIVE SPECIAL THANKS TO THOSE FANCIERS WHO HAVE SHARED THEIR HOUND'S RECORDS WITH US IN THIS AND FUTURE ISSUES.

DEADLINE FOR THE MARCH/APRIL ISSUE IS APRIL 10th
Each issue of CANFAN covers the trials, etc. held during the monthes listed on the cover. I.e. VISA trials scheduled for April 1 and 2 will have their results published in the March/April CANFAN.

Advertising How-to

HOW TO DESIGN AN AD FOR CANFAN:

1st Find the neatest typwritter you can.* Decide what you want to say--make it as simple as you can. Remember that in advertising "less is definately more!"

2nd Use your logo if you have one! A "headline" in transfer letters (from the local art supply store) is fine.

3rd Your design should be made on a piece of 8½"x11" paper (which I will reduce) or on 7"x8½" which is the true size of the magazine.

4th Whichever size your design is your photo must be cropped to fit the finished page. Reductions and enlargements must be done before you send your ad in!

Finally, your design must be perfect and allow for margins (½ to 1 inch all around) when it is received by me.
CAMERA READY MEANS READY TO PRINT. You will be charged for any work done on your ads.

Jan Priddy, Advertising Coordinator

* It looks so much better than this, right?!

* A WORD ABOUT LOGOS:
A logo is like any piece of property. It's use without permission is an infringement upon the rights of others. Please do not copy, trace, or borrow any logo without the permission of the owner in writting.

PHOTOS:
Both B/W and colour photos reproduce well in B/W.
One photo/page only is recommended.

ONIKA

CAN.CH. NIGHTWATCH V ONIKA, CAN.AM.F.CH.

Representing the 4th straight generation of titled running Afghans, Onika's record in Canada is the fulfillment of a family traditjon. Her mother, Vail, was the first dual American Champion Afghan Hound. Her great-grandfather, Kysyl, was the first sighthound to earn the coveted UICL racing and conformation title in Europe. Onika also has 9 AKC points with both majors. We thank Bill Bott for 4 points at the summer Seattle KC show and Mrs. John Marshall Jones for a recent Reserve. ex Am.Ch. Bardon Faded Finery

Daisy, a truly all-purpose Whippet, has done more than we could ask of one dog. She is truly a credit to her Group Winning, A.R.M. ancestry. We are very proud of her accomplishments:

IN THE RING:

B.B. and Group 2nd from the classes to finish in Canada
Two Hound Group 1st over B.I.S. competition, when specialled lightly.
9 A.K.C. points, including one major.

IN THE FIELD:

Finished both her Canadian and American Field Championships in 1977.
Finished ASFA title over strong California and Washington competition.
Finished CSFA title at VISA with a B.B. in a demanding course of over 1000 yards.
Currently Canada's #2 CSFA Whippet (tie) and #6 Hound (tie).
Daisy has only drawn the #1 Whippet, her good friend, Buster, twice and defeated him both times.

AS A PRODUCER:

In her only litter produced match group winner, Swiftsure Ragtime Galatea.
Watch for her sensational young son, Swiftsure Happy Daze (by AM.CAN.CH. Marial's King Arthur).

You Know You're in Dogs When...

Can say Bitch without flinching .... Think nothing of one day, five hundred mile round trips .... Plan your vacation for the week your bitch is due to whelp .... Get up at 5 a.m. on a weekend without complaining .... Let your kids roam the neighborhood, but keep the dogs finced in .... Find out that most people in your neighborhood don't care about shoulder layback, Grand National courses, or your dog's bloodlines .... Drive across two states to finish third in a course of three dogs .... Can logically justify why the dog ran poorly and why the judging was rotten .... Don't die of embarrassment when you discuss certain topics with the vet .... No longer get upset about your dog's placings .... No longer have weekend visits from complusively neat relatives .... Have week long visits from people who came to see the kennel .... Buy a van when you a single .... Think about buying a home in the country .... Plan a vacation to finish a title .... Find dog hairs in the strangest places .... Pull a slip lead, a muzzle, and a blanket out of your purse in a swank restaurant .... Find your way about in a strange city by following any van or a wagon with a crate in the back .... Realize that there is another meet and another chance next weekend .... Spend $8.00 for your entry, $30.00 for gas, $20.00 for the motel and $50.00 for food and entertainment only to run your dog twice for no longer than two minutes and then head for home — six hours away ..... Realize that your life has completely changed and that you are having a ball !!!!!!

The following publications should be of interest to all Sighthounders:

THE GAZEHOUND - 16258 Lovett Place, Encino, California, 91436, available for the cost of $15.00 per year for Canadians. This is a tremendous magazine that comes out six times a year — full of informative articles on showing, running, obedience, as well as beautiful ads on the seven breeds of sighthounds, The Italian Greyhound, the Ibizian and the Pharoah hound.

F.A.N. - the Field Advisory News of A.S.F.A. - Nancy Aiken, 3378 West Griffin Creek Road, Medford, Oregon, 97501, subscriptions are $7.50 per year. This is the official publication of the American Sighthound Field Association. It comes out once a month and list all the trial results throughout the United States, as well as interesting articles on Lure Coursing, and the official business of A.S.F.A.

THE SCORING SYSTEM

by Tony James (printed with his permission)

Some points for discussion:

1. Example of a typical two dog course:

Dog A cuts on some corners but is fast and reasonably agile. Dog B follows steadily, is not as fast as A and because he is behind into the corners, he probably does not show true agility. Who is the better lure courser? In most people's terms, probably dog B, but because speed and agility count nearly double the marks for enthusiasm and follow, then A will probably be scored higher. This is illustrated as follows:

	My own average	Dog A	Dog B
Enthusiasm (15)	11	11	11
Follow (15)	11	10	12
Speed (25)	17	20	16
Agility (25)	17	18	17
Endurance (20)	14	14	14
100	70	73	70

The above may be extreme, but it shows A has come out well above B. If all qualities in lure coursing were marked out of the same score, then B would have stood a better chance. I realize we cannot compare directly to open field coursing — the dogs certainly know the difference — and I would suggest that Dog A would alter his running pattern on live game.

2. Should there be a definite standard scoring system ?

This follows directly form #1 above, e.g. my own average total mark is 70, some judges have scored 80 and some as low as 50. All are fair enough in themselves as long as they are adhered to, although it can be misleading for competitors. The problem is the spread of the total points. If one judge keeps his spread fairly tight, e.g. 5 points either way, and the next judge has one of 15 points either way, then if the judges do not agree (which can often be the case) the one with the larger spread nullifies the other's marks. It becomes mathematics rather than true opinions. Maybe some set standard should be followed, e.g. out of a total of 20 points for each quality, 15 may be average, 13 mediocre, 17 may be excellent, etc. This would make for fairer judging all round and the only variable would be the judges' own individual opinions of the dog's running abilities — something, incidently, that we all accept when we enter any meet.

I would appreciate other people's comments on these points.

One of the nicest things about lure coursing is the people you meet. Nancy Aiken is one of the nice things about lure coursing and, because of her support of CSFA in FAN, we have met another terrific person. Gary Zumach is the founder of the Iowa Coursing Association, breeder/owner of this year's Grand National breed winner in Whippets and has been live coursing sighthounds for over 20 years. He very kindly has written a couple of articles for CANFAN, but I would like to share with you a few of his thoughts expressed in a letter to me:

Heather Loube

"I really put the emphasis on doing all of this for fun and enjoyment. Don't make winning the ultimate. I am a sticker for sportsmanship. I still keep pounding in everyone's head if you go into ASFA with the right attitude, you will have nothing but fun. If you particpate for the sole purpose of winning, then you are in for a lot of disappointment.

The system is not perfect; but on the other hand, it is not so bad that there is never a guarantee that you will win. This is good when you think about it, it gives everyone a chance to get those blue ribbons. ASFA is so new, many new judges really don't know what a good sighthound is supposed to do. BUT WE ALL HAVE TO LEARN SOMEWHERE. Good dogs can be beaten by the scoring system at no fault of the judges. If your dog ends up in the top four, then you are a winner.

My dogs are my hobby, so I am always doing something with them, either training or conditioning them. Through this, I have been most fortunate in winning most of the time. If my dogs get beaten, it is by better dogs. Yes, I have won when I figured I shouldn't have, and I have also lost when I shouldn't have. If you keep in mind it is all for fun, you will always have fun."

PUPPIES AND LURE COURSING by Gary Zumach

I start my whippet puppies with the pole lure at two months of age. Do not overdo this with any of the larger breeds as their bones are soft and can be fractured in forcing turns. Just familiarize the pups with it.

Condition a pup you want to course by taking him on long walks. The better condition a dog is in, the better he will run overall. Two dogs being equal in every way, the better conditioned dog will have the advantage. I walk or ride my bicycle two to four miles every other night in the spring and summer with the dogs along. Take you time when you start to condition until they are used to it. The dogs love this as much as running at the meets.

I start my puppies on the lure machine at 6 months, running up to 100 yards and increase as they get older. Play with you puppies no matter what the breed, at two months of age with a rabbit skin or lure. Throw it and let them fetch it. Let them pull on it.

My whippet pup, Pirate, that I raised who won the Grand National in 1977 was as hard as nails and in top condition. I know this was a deciding factor in his winning, as the last course of the day was over a mile and a half. He is also the youngest whippet to finish a Field Championship

I have friends that once their dogs are trained and know what they are doing, don't do any conditioning. Their dogs run very well. The choice is yours — I enjoy working with my dogs and getting outside.

22 The Training Methods That Have Worked For Me

by Gary Zumach

For people who are just getting interested in lure coursing and reading this for the first time: something you should know — when you finish this article you will only remember 75% of what you read, the next day you will only remember 50% and within a week you will only remember 25% or less. This is proven fact of a man's ability to remember unfamiliar subjects. So, re-read this article and any others about lure coursing at later dates as you progress in the sport.

The training methods that I am about to describe are actually very simple and easy to do. Start with the wrong methods and you can ruin or slow down the progress of a very good sighthound. Most all sighhounds have the built in desire to run after things. It has been bred out of some strains and can never be awakened in some dogs. There will be some sighthounds that will lure course the first time, as if they had been doing it all their lives. The people who are fortunate enough to own these dogs are very lucky. Using the following method can still improve these dogs' abilities even more and keep them true to the lure.

Not everyone is going to want to own a lure machine, but even if you do you should use the following method two or three times a week when in training. Get a pole, lightweight but sturdy, 6 feet long. Put about 5 feet of light cord on it and tie something furry on the end along with a white plastic bag. Swing in a circle or back and forth and encourage the dog to chase it. Let him catch it right away and praise him for it. Let them grab on it and pull. If they won't let go, don't scold them but talk them into realeasing it. Never, never scold a dog because it won't let go. After they know what to do, only let them catch it when they are really putting a lot of effort into trying to get the lure.

In all training, quit if the dog loses interest and try another dog. Do not do this practice session for longer than 5 minutes at one time. Always quit with the dogs wanting more. As for the lure on the end of the cord, I use tame rabbit skins and an old coon skin fur collar. You may start with a dog toy or something he likes, but be sure to add a white plastic bag after a short time so that the dog associates the bag with the skin or toy. This simple little practice session is one of the most overlooked training methods. A dog really concentrates on getting the lure this way. Experienced dogs do need this as much as the new dogs.

TRAIN ONLY ONE DOG AT A TIME until they know what they are doing and are on the lure. This training should be done before the dog is ever run on a lure machine. When you think your dog is ready for the lure machine, again train one dog at a time. When you think he is ready to run with another dog, make sure that the other dog is an experienced courser.

THE TRAINING METHODS THAT HAVE WORKED FOR ME.....continued.

The above is for training the average dog. There will be times when you have to do things differently when conventional methods don't work. I will give you my experience in what I have done for two problem starters. The following should NOT be done unless everything else fails and then only if you feel it applies to your dog.

I bought an Irish Wolfhound male that was a little over a year and a half old and he had never seen a lure or a rabbit or anything else to do with coursing. The first three times I ran him on the lure he did absolutely nothing. Talk about being disappointed!! I was going to make this IW a coursing dog if it was the last thing I ever did! The IW was a very gentle dog and a gentleman in the true sense of the word. I also have a little house dog that is half poodle and half fox terrier and as nuts as any dog can get to run after the lure. You have all you can do to hold her when out lure coursing. I finally would let Susie (the little dog) run after the lure and Gulliver (the IW) would be loose also. He finally had to find out what she was getting so excited about and started to follow the lure and run. He would never grab it when Susie had the lure and won't to this day if another dog beats him to it. But run him by himself, or if he makes it to the lure first, you had better put on a new lure. What happened here was that one dog transferred her enthusiasm to another dog. I have since trained a whippet the same way. NEVER DO THIS WITH STRANGE DOGS. (Incidently, Gilliver, the IW, was #9 Irish Wolfhound in ASFA in 1976.)

You have to be smarter than the dog at all times. You have to watch if a dog is getting lure wise. Here are some tips to help the lure wise dog who really wants the lure but is cutting all over the place. Run him on two to three hundred yards straight-aways (no corners) and then set up a four to eight hundred yard course and run him alone. If he starts to cut anywhere on the course, even after 50 to 100 yards, slow the lure down and make the dog go in after the lure. Then start him from where you stopped. You have to outsmart the smart dog. Many dogs become lure wise too fast, but can be retrained. Train those dogs one at a time until you are certain they are ready to run with another dog.

Do not mix various breeds together when starting.

The dogs love to run and you will make an untold number of new friends. So go out and have fun. Remember to always be a good sport. Accept lure coursing for what it is and what it is meant to be: A SPORT FOR MAN AND HIS DOGS TO HAVE FUN !!!

The Problem of Interference

by Lyle E. Gillette, President, American Sighthound Field Association (with his permission)

What is "Interference"?

Webster's Collegiate Dictionary says "to collide;clash". This brief and to the point definition will serve us well in judging the coursing hound's performance in a lure field trial.

It is my opinion that there are four main types of interference witnessed on the coursing field which affect the successful running of a course. Our present rules are a sincere effort on the part of the committees to lay down ways to deal with such incidents as they occur, so that our trials can have more meaningful results.

1. We have the unintentional clash or crash of two or more hounds in the eagerness and concentration on the pursuit, forcing a turn in direction and an unavoidable collision. If the hounds which collide immediately take up the pursuit without showing animosity to their coursing mates, the judges should not penalize any of them for interference. We can say it was an unavoidable accident — caused by the intense concentration of the hounds on their work.
2. We are pestered with the hound which playfully interferes with its coursing mates. This is an intentional interference and in all cases whould be penalized. How severely will depend upon the reaction of any hounds involved.
A good clean-running hound CAN be literally ruined for running in trials by such a "playful one". Usually there are one or both of the following results brought about by the "player" on the coursing field. Some hounds, after being molested by the "player" will be reluctant to take the lead in a course, but will hedge and lay back, not really concentrating on the lure, watching with one eye for another "playful one" to come barging up. Other hounds will resent the playful interference, will lash out at the provacateur and keep on with the pursuit of the lure. Such hounds are too often disqualified for alledgedly being involved in a vicious attack, when nothing more than a protest has been made by the hound being annoyed. However, if the response is more than a signal of protest — that is, if the molested hound turns and attacks, breaking for a spell his pursuit of the lure and becoming involved in a hassle — then he must be penalized, either dismissed or disqualified, depending upon whether a real act of aggression or visiousness has been committed.

The necessity of making decisions on this type of interference makes it mandatory that our judges be experienced dog-handling people, or persons who seriously try to understand the temperament of the running hound, what kind of temperament is acceptable and what is not. Without this type of person doing the judging, our trial's biggest mistakes are going to be made in reaching JUST decisions. Our rules can be better, and will be made more explicit as experience reveals the road for us. The better we understand the coursing hounds and their work, the better will be our decisions, and so will be the future rules which we decide upon.

3. Outright aggression is the third type of interference — a vicious display of an aggressive desire to fight one or more hounds in a course, losing all concentration towards the lure. Such animals should be immediately disqualified. Owners of such hounds should not re-enter them in any licensed trial until they set out on a serious effort to rehabilitate these hounds and cure them according to the rules and with a sportsmanlike attitude. A coursing hound's disposition is NOT a temperament which allows it to fight its coursing mate. Hounds which persistently display this trait are deviating from the Standard as much as one without teeth !

4. The bumper or crowder does not come along often, but occasionally we see the one which deliberately crowds or bumps his coursing mate. This hound's habit usually does not last long. He either gets thrown for a loop or becomes involved in a hassle that leads directly to disqualification. But because the crowder doesn't last long as a crowder does not mean that we should close our eyes to it. Dismiss them, and of course the owners will know why. They can break their dogs of the habit or, sure enough a hassle and disqualification are just around the corner. There have been occasions where judges have disqualified dogs for cause, and have thereupon suffered abuse, insults and curses by the owners of the disqualified hound. We should remember that behaviour of this type can disqualify the owner also, with the result that such persons are thereafter unable to enter any other hound he or she may own.

Most people who course DO abide by the decisions made by various officals on the field and avoid displaying their disappointments. A hound that gets dismissed or disqualified is not condemned to death, but has been placed in a position where it cannot do harm to the other hounds, either grave or minute.

Coursing is providing us with the means to test the temperament of our hounds. In return, we should heed the warnings and decisions not only to improve an individual hound, but to base our program of breeding on those hounds whose dispositions are as near faultless as can be. This is a side-effect of coursing, which, if used correctly, can hasten the elimination of any incompatability in the coursing hounds. Let all of us — judges and participants alike — be constructive and objective about the interferer; judge it fairly and, if necessary, penalize the dog on the basis of performance in line with the rules.

CSFA CANADIAN SIGHTHOUND FIELD ASSOCIATION

FROM THE RECORDS CHAIRMAN:

If we hope to someday be recognized by the Canadian Kennel Club, it is of the utmost importance that we keep precise, accurate records. Therefore, I would ask that Club Field Trial Secretaries be very careful to only accept COMPLETED entry forms for the field trials. An incomplete entry could mean cancellation of that hound's awards.

Please note, as well, that all hounds must now be registered with the Canadian Kennel Club or the American Kennel Club in order to be eligible for entry in licensed lure field trials, and that their registration number must be shown on the entry form.

Thank you for your cooperation.
